ENHANCED CRISIS SERVICES

Mental Health Disorders

Mental health disorders affect an individual's mood, thinking, and behavior. Some examples of such disorders include but are not limited to depression, anxiety, schizophrenia, bipolar and addictions.

Mental health disorders can cause problems in our daily life. We serve those individuals who have been recently discharged from the hospital as well as those at risk for hospitalization. Our team utilizes a combination of talk therapy (psychotherapy) and medication evaluations with those served. These services are provided several times a month to help with stabilization and minimize the risk of hospitalization.

Your Team

This program utilizes a team approach when working with individuals. ECS provides community based therapeutic services that deliver solution-focused and recovery-oriented care. The team ensures an individual has follow-up services when discharged from the hospital. The team provides wrap-around services for the individual to help with ongoing stabilization and support.
